Our 2022-2023 Rotary International motto: Imagine Rotary!

March 9, 2023

Next week's program features William Cooke, MD, FAAFP, FASAM, AAHIVS, who will join us as our speaker through Zoom.

Dr. Cooke graduated with honors from IU School of Medicine in 2001 and is now a Fellow of the American Academy of Family Medicine and the American Society of Addiction Medicine, specializing in Family Medicine, Addiction Medicine, and HIV Medicine. He has received national recognition for the quality and compassionate care he provides by being named Family Physician of the Year by the Indiana Academy of Family Physicians and the American Academy of Family Physicians.

In addition to being the chief medical officer for Foundations Family Medicine a division of Well Care Immunity Health centers, he serves as the medical director of the nonprofit community organization Refresh Health, as the Medical Director of the Scott Memorial Health hospitalist program, and as co-director of the Rural Center of HIV/STD Prevention.

Dr. Cooke believes that everyone deserves equal access to hope, health, and opportunity. He explores this topic in his book Canary in the Coal Mine and through the lens of the historic 2015 Scott County HIV outbreak. He was the sole physician in Austin, Ind., where the opioid-fueled HIV epidemic attracted international attention.

The celebration of service will be held in the IMU's Georgian Room and through Zoom. Our meeting will be led by Theresa Claire, while President Alain Barker is out of town.

March is Rotary Month focused on Water, Sanitation, and Hygiene (WASH) programs. Clean water, sanitation, and hygiene education are basic necessities for a healthy environment and a productive life. When people have access to clean water and sanitation, waterborne diseases decrease, children stay healthier and attend school more regularly, and mothers can spend less time carrying water and more time helping their families. Through service in action and donations to The Rotary Foundation, Rotarians

Jim Shea introduced Katy Börner, the Victor H. Yngve Distinguished Professor of Intelligent Systems Engineering & Information Science at Indiana University. Jim described her as a scientist with a big vision. Dr. Börner is a curator of the international Places & Spaces: Mapping Science exhibit. Her presentation guided us through the exhibit and how it has evolved over time.

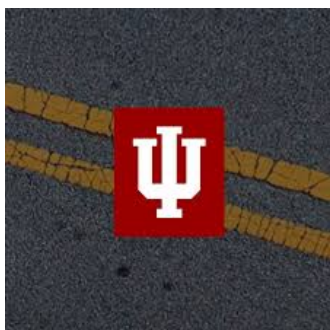

The exhibit is now 18 years old. It initially began with 100 framed maps, which were submitted by researchers, judged, and then displayed. To ensure greater understanding of their meaning, there is also a trilogy of books: Atlas of Forecasts, Atlas of Science, and Atlas of Knowledge. The maps are now interactive and online.

The exhibit provides maps which use data visualization to explain systems. They are intended to help anyone understand processes that lead to various outcomes. Predictive models help us to make data-driven decisions as they forecast futures and help us identify the actions needed to reach our desired outcome.

Dr. Börner described a number of the maps which are part of the exhibit, including US Patent hierarchy, Science-related Wikipedia activity, History of Science Fiction, and Topic Map of NIH Grants in 2007. Areas of the map can be highlighted and overlaid to dig deeper into information, data, and people involved.

Dr. Börner stressed the importance of good data, the inclusion of many different stakeholders in its gathering, and a narrative that describes what we want and how to get to those desirable futures through computational
